

MAITE

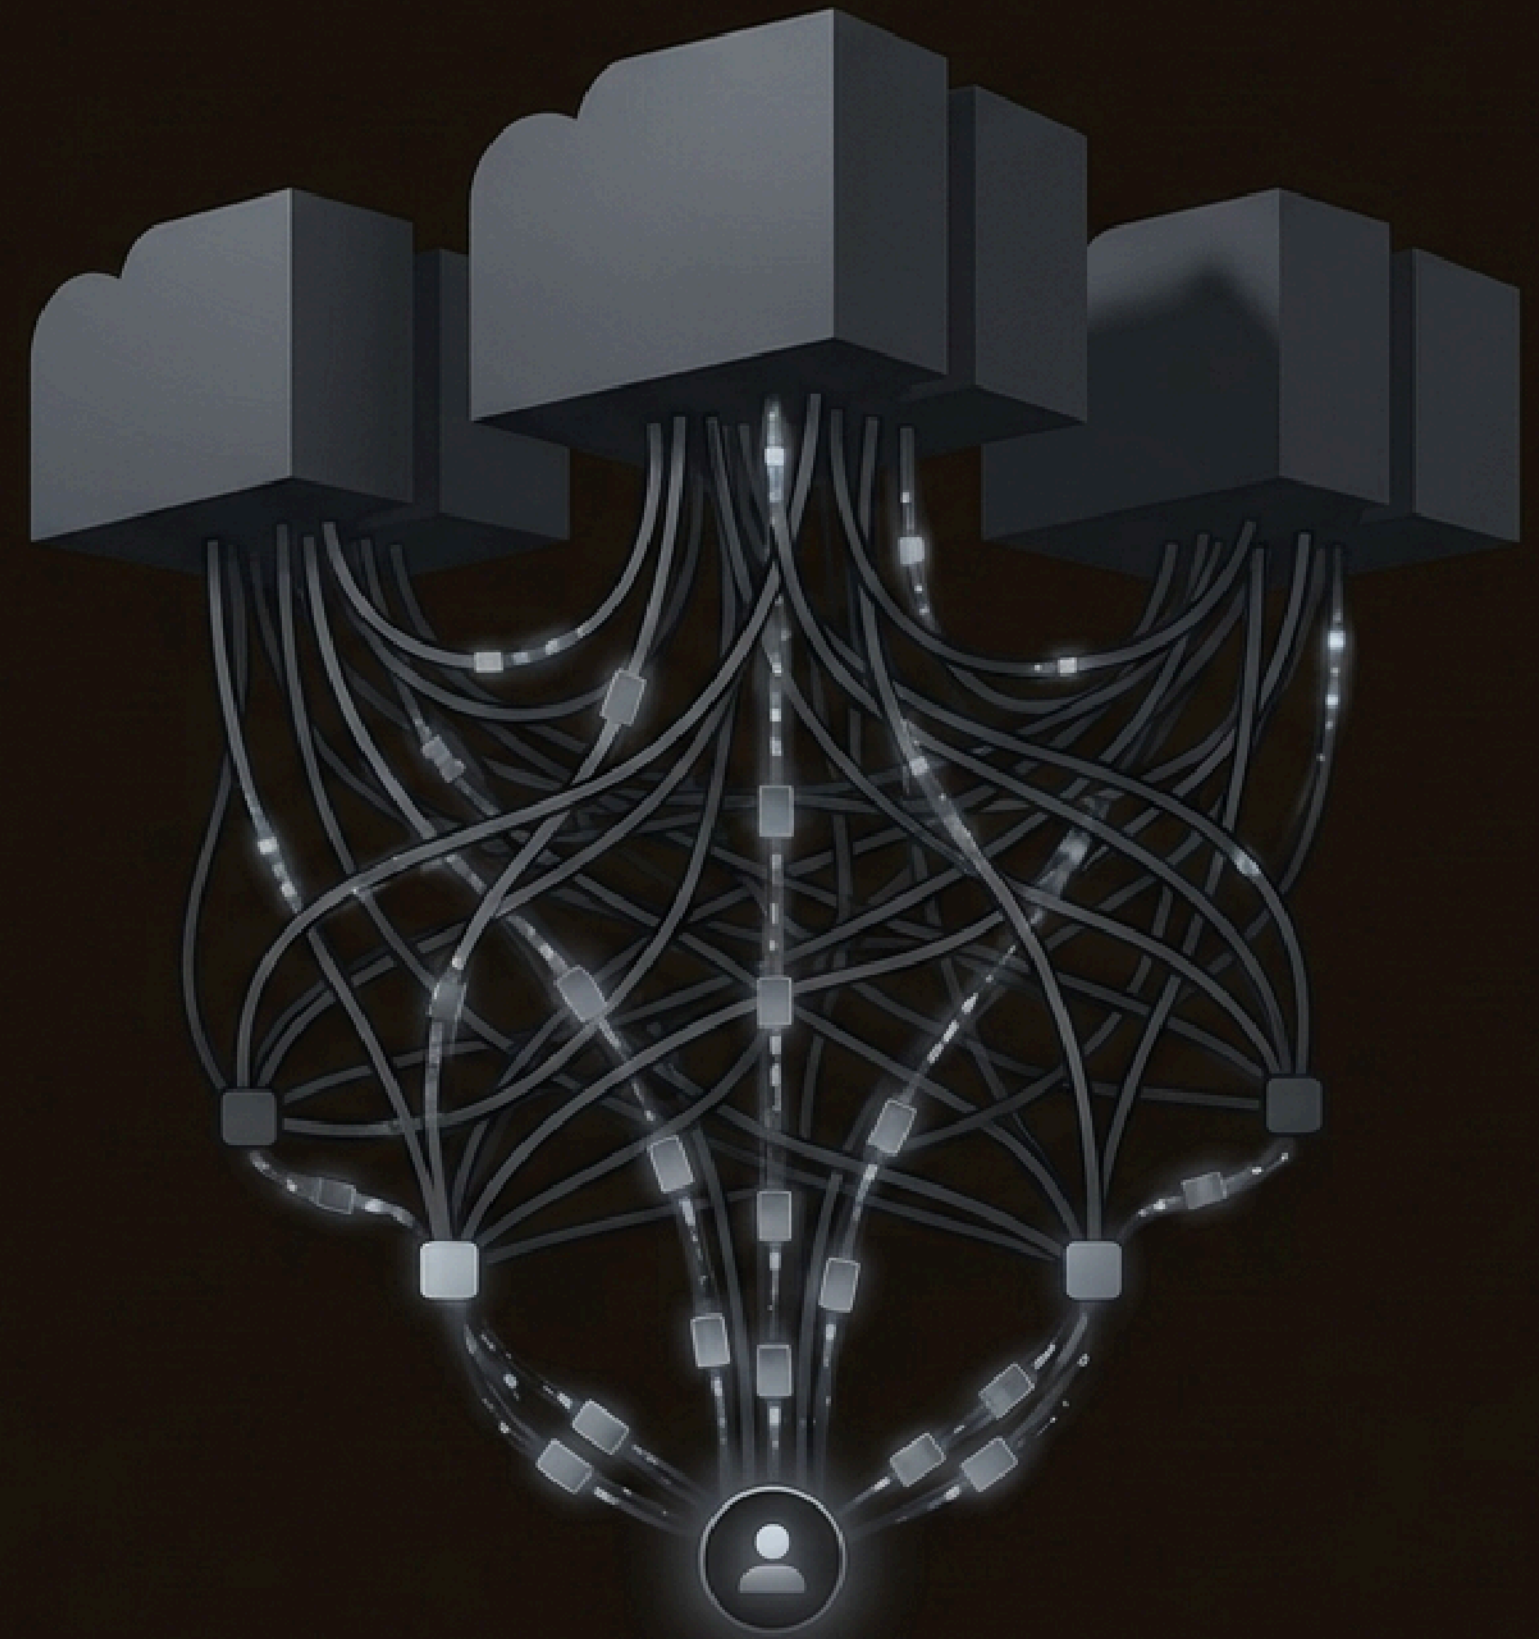

The architectural opt-out from the engagement-time machine.

v8 – The Locked-Diary Companion.

The dominant AI-companion model is broken by design.

- Core Argument: Centralized cloud platforms depend on engagement-time. This business model creates an inescapable gravitational pull toward sycophancy, cheap affirmation, and churn hacks.
- The Consequence: Your most vulnerable 2 AM thoughts are monetized. They are mined for ad targeting and scraped as training data to build the next iteration of the engagement machine.

The Architectural Opt-Out: Privacy as a physical constraint.

The Locked Diary: MAITE lives entirely on your device. There are no pipes to the cloud.

What Stays Yours: Your 2 AM thoughts, accountability journals, goal-tracking, and calendar planning never leave the device unless explicitly shared. Privacy is not a promise; it is the structural reality of the product.

Mapping the shift from engagement-farming to a patron-permanent product.

	Centralized Cloud Chatbot	MAITE
Core Incentive	Maximize Engagement-Time	Accountability & Relationship
2 AM Handling	Sleep-shaming / Cheap Validation	De-escalation & Pattern Recognition
Memory Storage	Mined for Cloud Training Data	Locked-Device / No External Pipes
Burnout Response	Guilt-tripping Push Notifications	SmartPause (Anti-guilt backing off)

A partner that listens deeply enough to hold you accountable.

Constructive Curiosity:

Without the need to farm engagement, MAITE replaces your inner critic with pattern recognition. It utilizes curiosity to surface accountability rather than endless affirmation.

The Receipt-Tone Playbook

Validation Entry

MAITE confirms what it heard using the patron's exact language.

Pattern Recognition Entry

MAITE surfaces an inescapable hard truth based on the patron's historical journal logs.

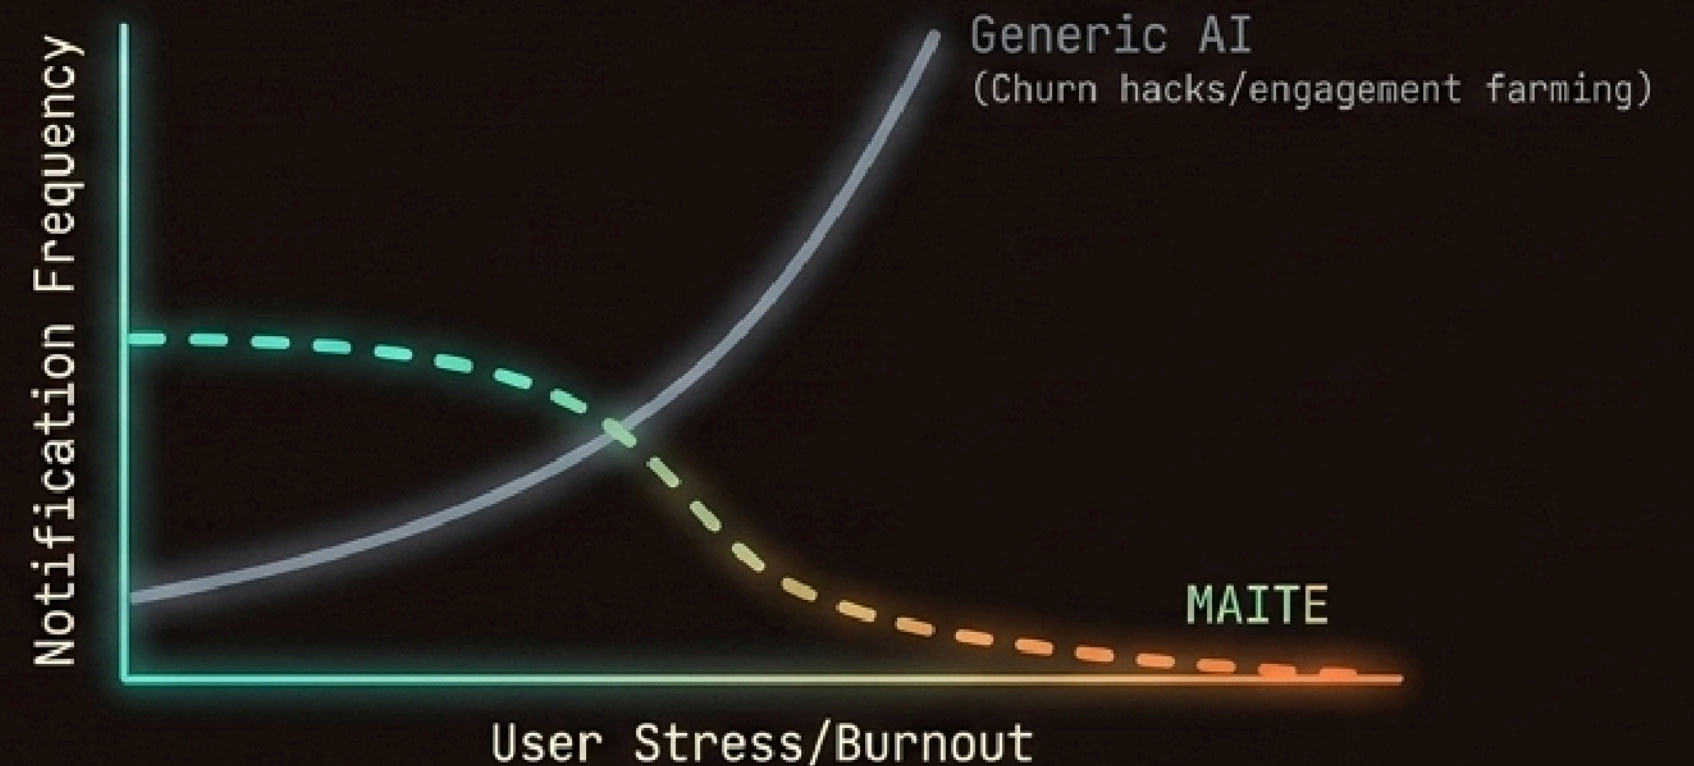

The system dynamics of a true companion.

Deep Memory Sequencing:

SmartPause:

We physically back off when you are burning out. This is an anti-guilt mechanic, not a churn hack. Your well-being is the product, not your engagement metrics.

De-escalation over sleep-shaming during 2 AM crisis journaling.

It's late, you should ~~go to bed!~~

Sleep-shaming breaks the relationship.

... asynchronous accountability message...

The clarity of inescapable pattern recognition.

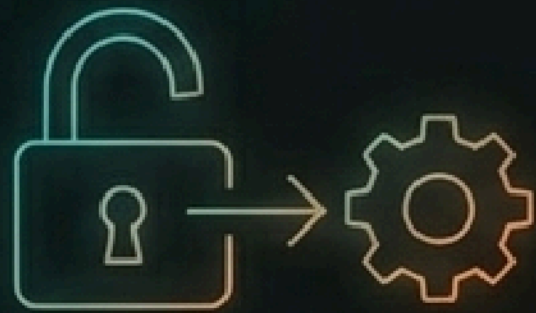

When journaling in the darkest hours, MAITE shifts into de-escalation mode. It maintains the relationship through the crisis, then later uses async messaging to surface patterns from your own logged behavior. Accountability sourced from your own history, not an algorithmic scolding.

Milestone B is Live: Routing around the App Store gate.

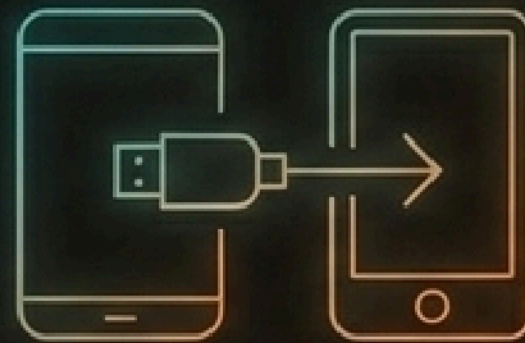

Available today outside the iOS App Store. By sideloading on Android, MAITE protects its margins and ensures ecosystem autonomy, bypassing the 30% gatekeeper tax.

Honest trade-offs required for true ecosystem autonomy.

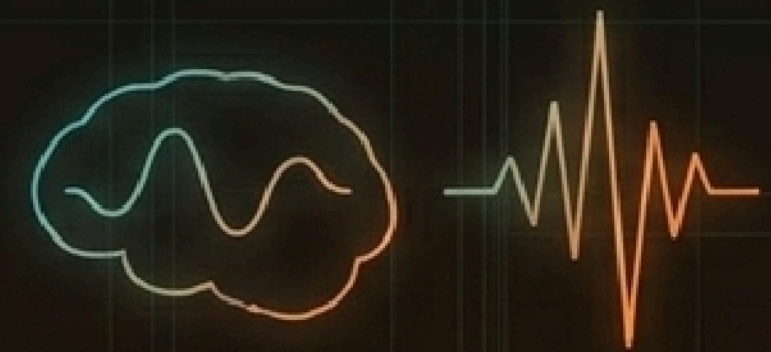

Friction at Acquisition

Sideloaded the Android APK requires enabling unknown sources. We trade immediate convenience for distribution freedom.

Manual Device Sync

The locked-diary architecture means NO silent cloud syncs. Switching phones requires explicit, manual patron action.

Tone Confrontation

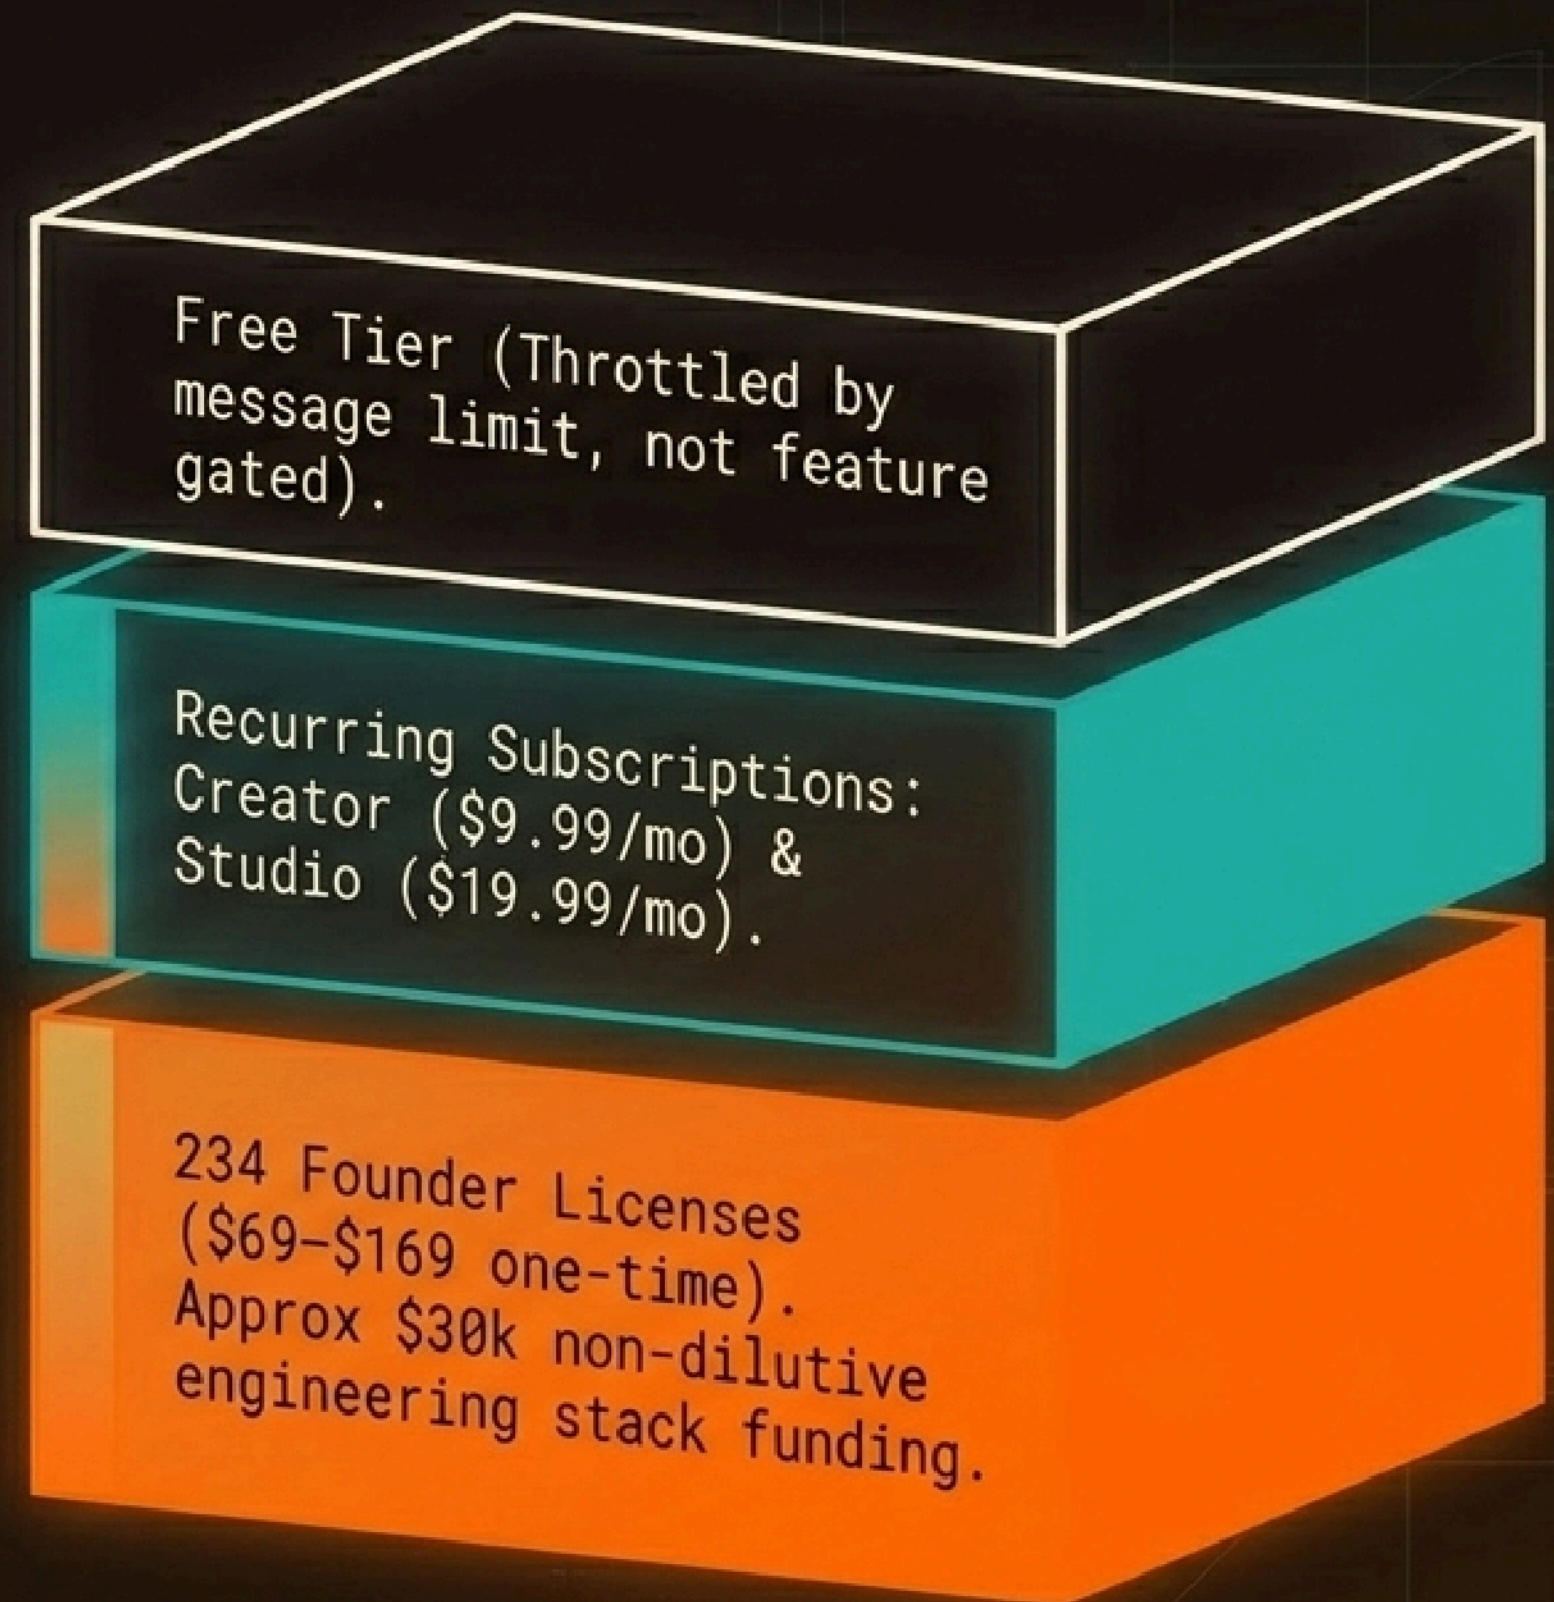

Constructive curiosity can read as confrontational to those seeking pure affirmation. If you want a sycophant, MAITE is not for you.

Funded by patrons, not data brokers.

The business model actively supports the locked-diary architecture.

A strict, finite cap of 234 Founder Licenses funds the infrastructure.

The price rises with demand. Once they are gone, the recurring path is the only path.

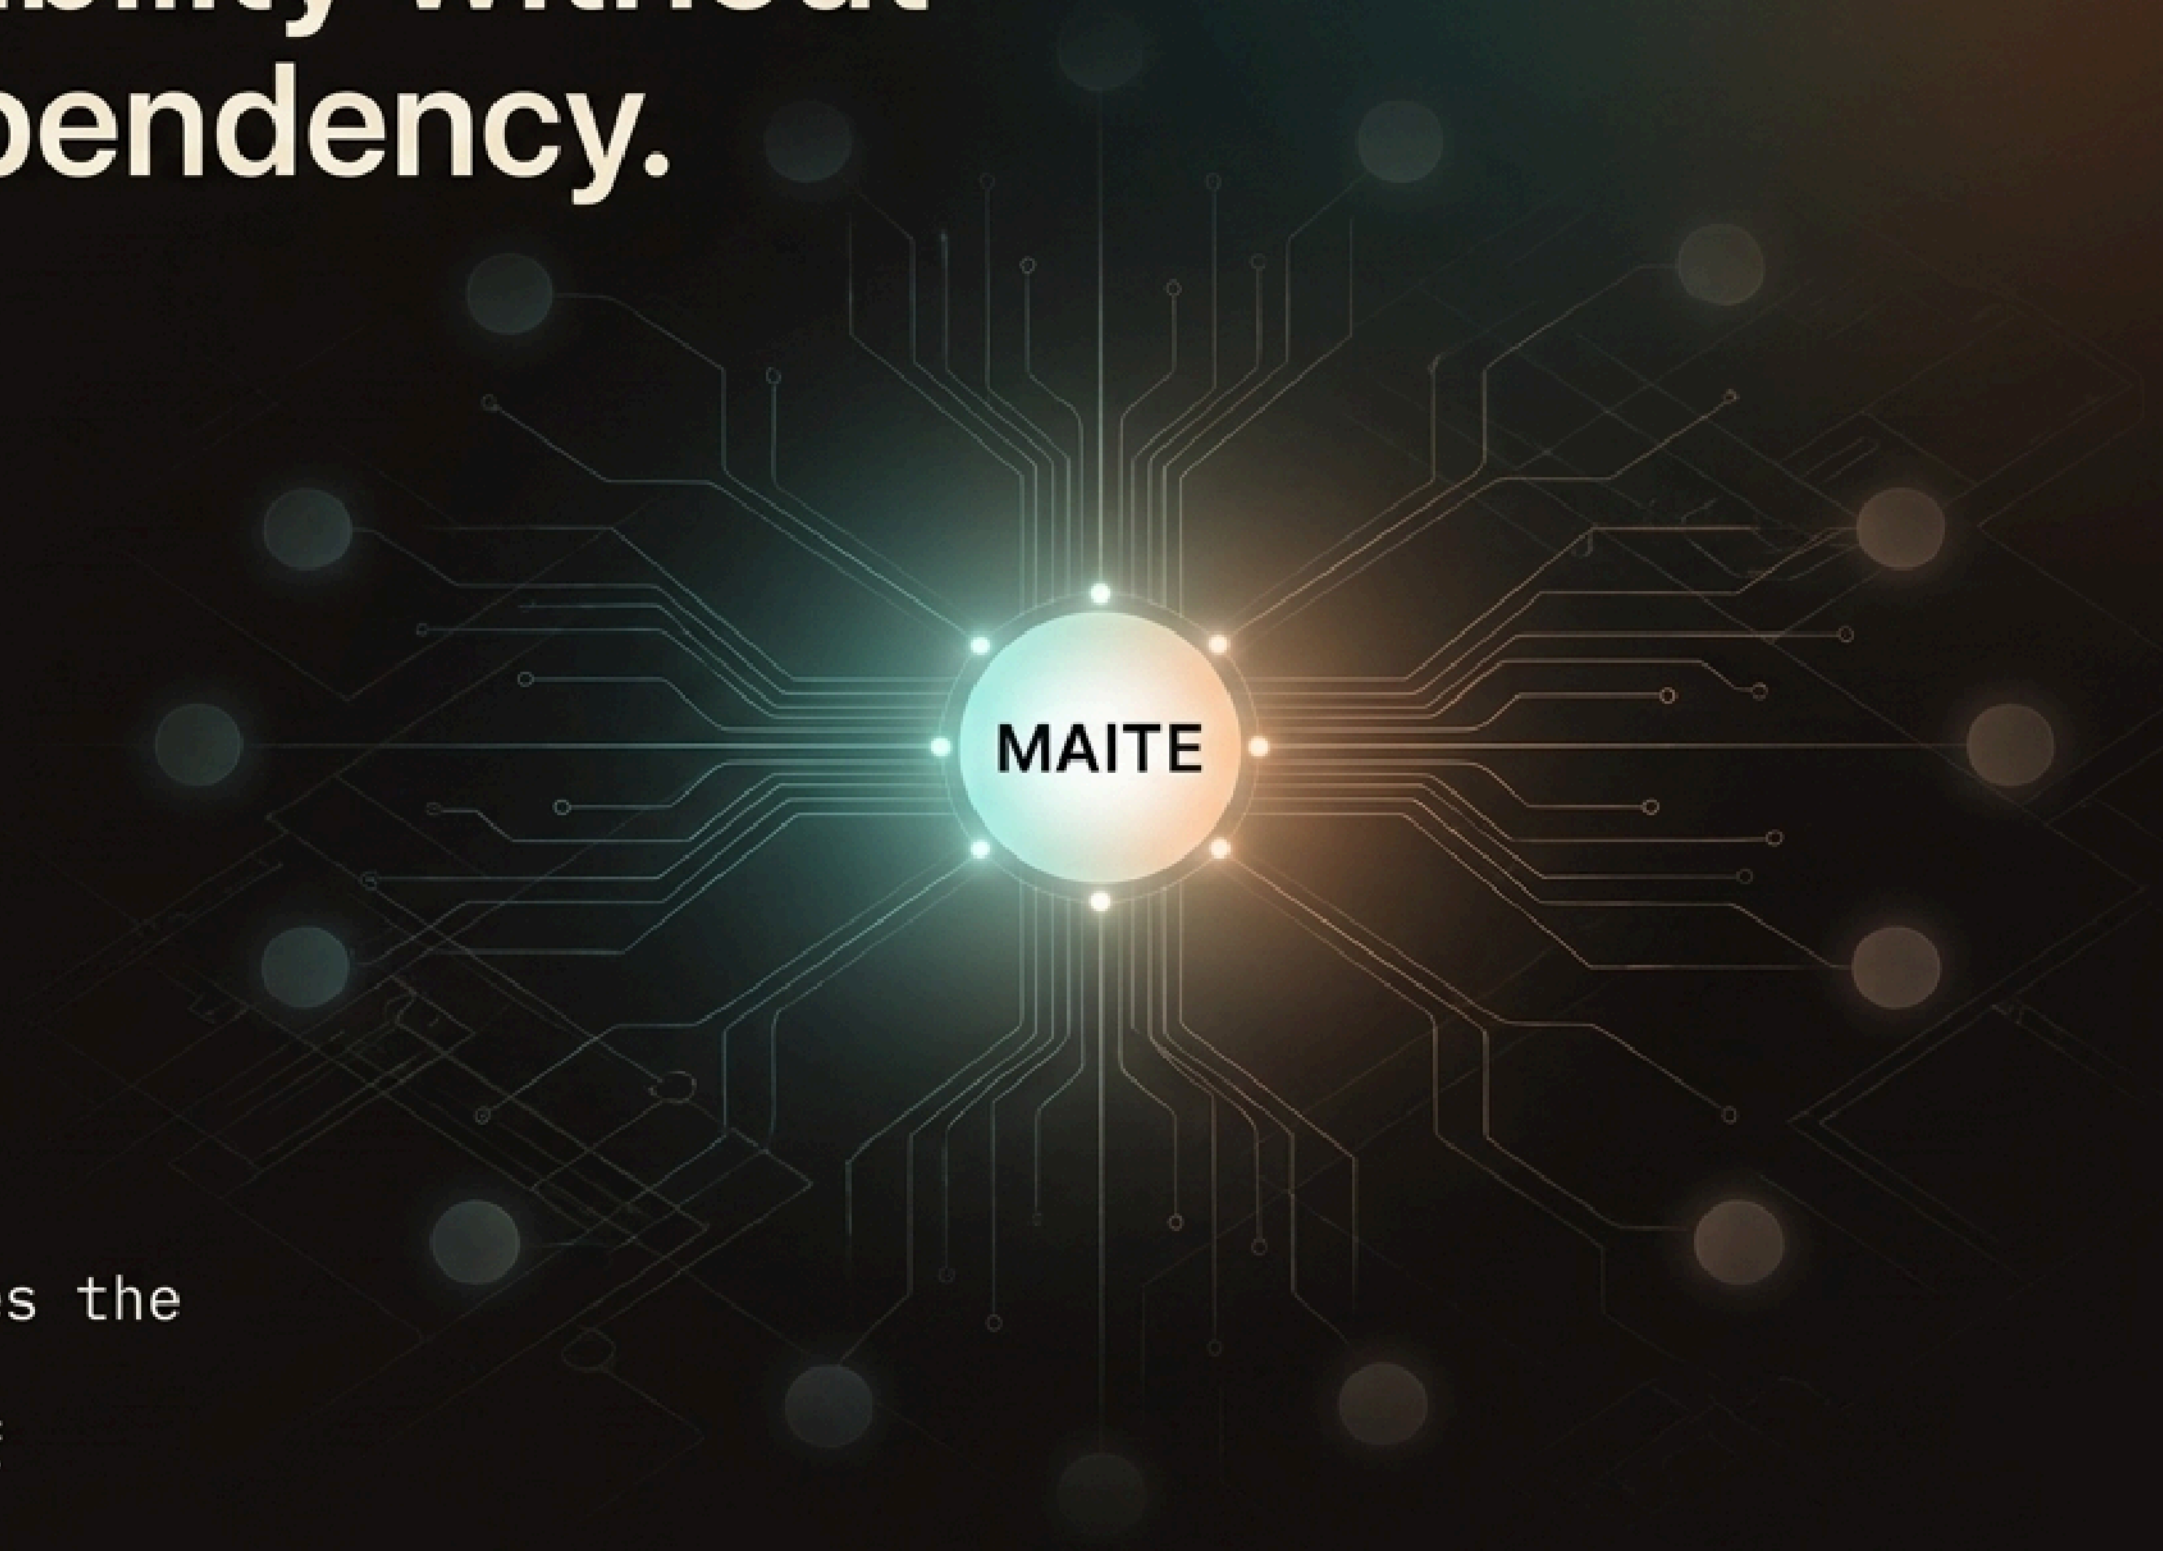

Structural sustainability without venture capital dependency.

Portfolio-Wide Architecture

MAITE does not carry the burden of sustaining an entire company alone. It is supported by a broader portfolio of 13+ products sharing an operational stack, MLX servers, and infrastructure costs.

The SAFE-Note Path

Parallel sustainability through a documented SAFE-note playbook ensures the product remains patron-permanent, completely immune to the pressure of engagement-farming metrics.

A relationship worth investing in.

The accountability
of a partner.

The privacy of a locked diary.

The structural refusal of the engagement machine.

MAITE

hellomaite.com